Dear Gerald:

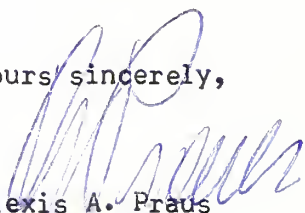

In looking over your last issue of Lincoln Lore, it has occurred to me that the following may appeal to you as a small item for the publication.

Some time ago, we received the shears and chalk (soapstone) used in making Lincoln's inaugural suit. Also, we have an old newspaper clipping featuring the above and Abner Wilkenson's daughter.

Personal regards from,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Praus:

I was pleased to have your letter of September 28th and to learn of the new Lincoln relic that your museum has acquired, namely; the shears and chalk (soapstone) used in making Lincoln's inaugural suit.

It is good that you have the old newspaper clipping featuring the above and the name of Abner Wilkenson the tailor.

We will place your letter in our files and someday we may want more information about the making of Lincoln's inaugural suit of clothes.

Yours sincerely,

R. Gerald McMurtry
